Just this side of Paradise

The word California was first used by a Spanish writer more than four hundred years ago to describe an imaginary land which, he claimed, was "just this side of Paradise."

Little did he know how nearly right he was, for of all the spots the sun's rays shine upon, California most nearly approaches one's idea of an earthly Paradise.

And it isn't far away—you can make the round trip from Chicago in a week. But you'll stay longer.

Before you buy your ticket give me an opportunity of laying before you the advantages which the Rock Island System offers. I think I can satisfy you that it is the line to take.

Trials of Motherhood

283 Broad Street,
PHILADELPHIA, PA., June 12, 1903.

I suffered for nine years with ovarian troubles making life a burden to myself as well as to my family. During that time I had two miscarriages and although we longed for a child to bless our home this seemed impossible. I had constant racking bearing-down pains in the pelvic organs and a pulling through my limbs with frequent headaches. I felt sick at my stomach and vomited frequently and no medicine helped me until I tried Wine of Cardui.

When my general health improved, the pains gradually lessened and after 18 weeks I was well. I am now the happy mother of a boy eighteen months old and my husband joins me in sending heartfelt thanks to you for your splendid medicine. Without it, I would have been a childless, instead of a happy and well mother.

Mrs. Frederick Handlinger

CHAPLAIN, ST. ANDREW'S ASSOCIATION.

WINE OF CARDUI

Wine of Cardui is the most successful menstrual regulator. By regulating menstruation, Wine of Cardui banishes inflammation from the entire female organism and the strengthened ligaments bring the organs back to their proper place. This is what Wine of Cardui did for Mrs. Handlinger. It banished the racking pains and burning inflammation and brought her relief. She was restored to health and strength and gives Wine of Cardui the credit of making her able to become a happy mother. There are many suffering women who think that health can never be theirs because they cannot secure the services of a great specialist, but we want to say right here that while Mrs. Handlinger lives in Philadelphia, a great medical center, she depended on Wine of Cardui for a cure and she was cured. This same medicine is within your reach. Will you take it?

All druggists sell $1.00 bottles Wine of Cardui.

Vetter's Dyspepsia Remedy

the only medicine that goes right to the root of the trouble—destroys the microbes which cause dyspepsia—creates a natural appetite and perfect digestion—makes new, rich blood and tones up the system.

What a Well Known Cleveland Police Officer Says About It.

For fifteen years I took treatment from the best physicians in Cleveland, for dyspepsia and weak stomach, but got only temporary relief. I had to quit tobacco and almost stop eating, and was feeling pretty blue when I began taking Vetter's Dyspepsia Remedy. I took 8 bottles, and am completely cured. I feel hearty and use all the tobacco I want. I recommend your medicine to all my friends and will be pleased to have anyone who wishes further information about my remarkable cure to call at my home, 61 Mentor Avenue, Cleveland, S. S.

NATURAL WHITE OIL

Restores and Beautifies the Hair.

Compounded in nature's own laboratory, 1375 feet below the earth's surface, this wonderful Natural White Oil has marvelous curative properties. It is an unfailing remedy for BALDNESS, FALLING HAIR, DANDRUFF and all scalp diseases. It will grow hair on any head unless the roots are utterly destroyed.

FINEST HEAD OF HAIR IN ERIE.

Years ago, my hair began falling out. I consulted in time various experts on the hair and scalp. Under all this treatment the loss of my hair continued. Then I began the use of a number of so-called Hair Restoratives, but all to no avail. By this time you could see the bare top of my head as a room. Luckily for me I began the use of Natural White Oil and to my surprise, after using it one month, my hair ceased falling out entirely. I continued using the Natural White Oil and almost immediately noticed that it was promoting the growth of the hair. I continued its use for six months, by that time my growth of hair covered my entire baldness. I now have as fine a head of hair as any man or woman in Erie, Pa. I consider Natural White Oil the most wonderful product for all hair and scalp diseases in the world. I recommend it to all my friends, and also to strangers at every opportunity. For cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales and dandruff and promoting the growth of hair, it has no equal. Yours truly, LOUIS GALLMISH, Proprietor of Hotel Allen, Erie, Pa.

Outdoor Sports in Porto Rico.

The idea which once prevailed among Americans in Porto Rico that northern outdoor sports, such as baseball, tennis, etc., could not be successfully introduced into Porto Rico is now waning. The Americans have virtually made baseball the national outdoor sport of Porto Rico, as it has been for a long time in the United States. Tennis tournaments are being held, and football, cycling and other sports have been tried to some extent. When a northerner becomes acclimated he seems to enjoy outdoor sports here about the same as he does in the north. What a great many of us need here in the tropics is exercise, but too often we are disinclined to take it.—San Juan News.

Schools of Crime.

As an instance of the way secret societies like the Mafia are organized in southern Italy it is worth reporting that the Italian police recently arrested seventy-one persons, all members of a secret organization called the Malavita in the city of Foggia. It was discovered that the society was organized to commit all sorts of crime, from highway robbery to kidnapping. Two schools were found, one to teach the way to use the knife and the other for pickpockets. An admission fee of a few francs was charged, and the members were divided into three classes and promoted from one to the other by a sort of supreme court, with headquarters at Barietta.

New Book by Dr. Rainsford.
"A Preacher's Story of His Work" is the title of Dr. W. S. Rainsford's new book. The writer will tell of his childhood on the picturesque East Coast of Ireland, of his school days, his experiences in East London, his university life at Cambridge, of his coming to America, and his early experiences here. Finally he will tell of the ways by which he transformed St. George's, New York, from a dying family parish into the present active and powerful church that is serving rich and poor alike. The book is to be published soon by the Outlook company.

CURED OF BRONCHITIS
Letter from Prominent Milwaukee Man Published by Request of Our Local Druggist, Frank D. Hall
To the Editor of The Advocate:
For the benefit of all people in Newark suffering from hard colds, hacking coughs, bronchitis, throat troubles or weak lungs, I wish you would publish the following letter:
"Dear Sir—For two months I suffered with a hard cold and hacking cough, which settled into bronchitis and sore lungs. I was nearly worn out, had tried all kinds of medicine when Vinol was recommended. I have never tasted cod liver oil so delicious a form, and what is better, it quickly eased the soreness in my lungs, cured bronchitis and cough and made me well and strong. I enjoyed taking every dose."
W. H. O'KEEFE, Milwaukee, Wis.
We guarantee that Vinol will cure all such troubles, or will give back the money paid for it. The above letter is published simply to add additional proof.
Physicians everywhere endorse Vinol. A prominent physician writes: "Vinol is the most valuable preparation of cod liver oil known to medicine; it is of untold value to create strength and build up the general system for old people, weak women and children; and it has no equal for hard colds, bronchitis and all lung affections."
We ask the people of Newark to try Vinol on our guarantee that if it does not help them they can come back and get their money. Frank D. Hall, Druggist.

JUDGE FRAZIER DECIDES CASE AGAINST FRAZEYSBURG.
Judgment of Justice Court is Reversed—Exceptions Filed—Local Railway News Briefs
Zanesville, Feb. 10.—Judge Frazier, of the common pleas court, yesterday handed down his findings in eight cases wherein the P. C. C. & St. L. Railway company, the Pan Handle, is the plaintiff in error, and the incorporated village of Frazeysburg is the defendant in error.
Some time ago the case was tried in one of the courts of a justice of the peace and here judgment was rendered against the railroad company for $50 for each alleged violation of the village speed ordinance.
Judge Frazier's decision reversed the findings of the lower court and gives a "black eye" to the village folk.
The attorney for the defendant in error asked for his exceptions in the matter.

Tricky Russian Diplomacy.

Russian diplomacy has never been regarded as highly honorable, but in the negotiations with Japan that have just been going on it approaches baseness. In the way of words that have preceded the present conflict the whole world will give Japan the credit of being more straightforward, honorable and consistent than Russia. The delay of Russia in answering the last diplomatic note of Japan is universally recognized as deceitful, dishonorable and cowardly. In the earlier stages of the negotiations deliberation was proper and was expected, but in the existing crisis no honorable foe would practice the tactics of prolonged delay that Russia has done to disguise her war preparations, even to the rushing forward of large bodies of troops. If Japan struck the first blow, Russia compelled her to do so.

The Russians are charging the Japanese with not fighting fairly. This is what the Spaniards said of Dewey after the battle of Manila. Their complaint was that Dewey attacked them too early in the morning.

Pending his Senatorial confirmation, Dr. Wood is still administering quinine doses to the Moros. Under his treatment great numbers have become absolutely quiet. He could scarcely have made a more successful record in the regular practice of his original profession.

At the termination of the trouble between the Powers and China one of the specific terms of the agreement made at Peking was that Russia should promptly evacuate Manchuria. This agreement Russia has refused to carry out, and the other Powers, through indifference or cowardice, have failed to compel her to do so. It has therefore fallen to the lot of little Japan to enforce the agreement and tackle big Russia singly and alone.

Republican claims of credit for all that has gone well and for all the prosperity that has been in this nation, leads Representative Williams, minority leader in the House, to tell an anecdote of a woodpecker. "This woodpecker," says Mr. Williams, "was pecking away near the top of a tree for all he was worth. He made a great noise through all the surrounding woods. A big gust of wind came along and blew the tree down. The woodpecker went down with it. He thought to his dying day he was the bird that brought the tree to the ground with his pecking."

COURTLY POMP IN WASHINGTON.
(St. Louis Post-Dispatch.)

President Roosevelt is as fond of the pomp and circumstances of war as the savage of the gorgeous feathers and paint with which he decorates his person. It is hinted that the President is going to have a guard of honor, all his own, shining with brass buttons, red sashes, epaulettes, swords and spurs—a perfect debauch of the sensations. The idea is European. It used to be said that "we didn't care for abroad," but the hero of San Juan has changed all that.

The Right of Way.

It would be well for drivers of wagons to remember that all United States mail carriers have the right of way on public highways when on duty. They cannot be driven into ditches by heavily loaded wagons without violating the United States mail laws. If a collision is made by so doing, and the mail delayed, it will not be long thereafter until a Deputy United States Marshal will be looking for the parties, who will answer to roll call in a United States court. This law applies not only when meeting a vehicle, but applies to those in front of the mails as well as when the mail makes an effort to pass—a thing not observed in this country.

BANK CLOSED

Washington, Feb. 10.—The controller of the currency today announces the closing of the doors of the Equitable National Bank of New York City, and the appointment of National Bank Examiner Edward Ridgeley as temporary receiver. The following statement is made:

"The failure of this bank is due to bad loans and invidious management. The volume of business done by the Equitable has always been small and has decreased so greatly in the last few weeks that its failure is almost without significance, and in no way involves any other National bank. It had practically no business with banks outside of New York City.

JAPAN STRIKES RUSSIA VERY HARD BLOW AT PORT ARTHUR

fleet renewed the bombardment of Port Arthur for a half an hour yesterday afternoon and that the inhabitants of the city are in a state of panic.

COMMANDER REPORTS RUSSIAN LOSS.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 10.—The following official bulletin has just been issued in form of a telegram from Viceroy Alexieff's chief of staff, dated February 9:

"By order of the viceroy I beg to report that this day at about 11 o'clock in the evening, a Japanese squadron consisting of about 15 battleships and cruisers approached Port Arthur and opened fire. The enemy was received with a cannonade from the shore batteries and the guns of our squadron, which also participated in the engagement.

"At about mid-day the Japanese squadron ceased its fire and left, proceeding south.

"Our losses in the engagement were two officers wounded, nine men killed and forty-one wounded. On the shore batteries one man was killed and three were wounded. The battleship Poltava and the cruiser Novik each had a hole knocked in her side below the water line. The forts were slightly damaged."

(Signed) "MAJOR GENERAL FLUG."

UNITED STATES SENDS A NOTE TO THE POWERS

Washington, Feb. 10.—Secretary Hay has addressed an identical note to a number of European powers to ascertain if they are willing to join in a notice to Russia and Japan that, during hostilities and thereafter, the neutrality and integrity of China must be recognized. Details of the note are not obtainable in advance of the receipt of replies.

It is known, however, that exchanges already have taken place which justifies the state department in expecting favorable response to its note.

The matter has created a great sensation in diplomatic circles here.

At the cabinet meeting it was decided that the United States should preserve absolute neutrality between the combatants, but it is scarcely likely that a proclamation formally of that decision will be announced until official advices of the actual beginning of hostilities have been received. Admiral Evans' cruiser squadron will observe the naval operations of the war.

TOKIO, Feb. 10.—The Japanese report of the fight between a portion of the Japanese fleet and two Russian vessels off Chemulpo, Korea, yesterday afternoon, has it that the Russian cruiser Variag was set afire and disabled, and the torpedo gunboat Korietz sunk. The battle lasted four hours. The morning reports had it that Russian vessels surrendered without fighting.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—(Bulletin)—The Japanese legation here confirms the report of a naval battle at Chemulpo, Korea, and the capture of two Russian cruisers.

JAPANESE MARCHING ON SEOUL.

London, Feb. 10.—In a dispatch from Tien Tsin, dated February 9, a correspondent of the Daily News says it is reported there that the Russian cruisers Variag and Korietz hauled down their flags without firing a shot, and that 8,000 Japanese immediately landed at Chemulpo, and the march to Seoul commenced.

It was reported from Peking today that the Japanese had disembarked in Chemulpo notwithstanding the presence there of two Russian warships, and another dispatch from Chefoo said Japan had the Variag and the Korietz caught in Chemulpo.

Japanese troops also landed at all the chief points of southern and western Korea. Altogether three divisions of Japanese guards each of 12,000 men have been mobilized. It appears that the Russian warships at Vladivostok are icebound.

Another correspondent wires from Port Arthur that the Russian advance has begun.

THE EMPRESS OF JAPAN.

I firmly believe that our forces will triumph. We have waited a good while for Russia to make good her promises and our patience is worn out."
A large fund is to be raised in New York as a patriotic gift to Japan.

WILD WITH JOY.

Tokio, Feb. 10.—The Japanese capital is wild with joy over the news of the successful dash of the Japanese torpedo boat flotilla into Port Arthur and the disabling of three of Russia's finest fighting ships. This joy was doubled later when the report became current that two Russian cruisers had been picked up by the Japanese fleet at Chemulpo.

FRENCH FLAG RAISED.

London, Feb. 10.—A Tien Tsin dispatch says it is reported that the French flag has been hoisted in Shan Hai Kwang, China, and that the British officer there protested against French occupation.

GERMANY PRO-RUSSIAN.

Berlin, Feb. 10.—The news of the destruction by Japanese torpedo boats of three of Russia's warships at Port Arthur was received here with dismay. The Berlin populace is extremely pro-Russian. The United States is generally denounced for sympathizing with "yellow Japan" as against "white Russia."

SIGSBEE'S VIEWS.

Philadelphia, Feb. 10.—Discussing the war Admiral Sigsbee said:

"Japan, in striking the first blow and disabling a portion of the Russian fleet, has gained a decided advantage. The value of this stroke cannot be fully appreciated except by one familiar with the tactics of naval warfare and the conditions existing between belligerents. The Japanese are adepts in the use of torpedo boats and their equipments are modern. In their war with China they demonstrated this. They used the torpedo very effectively in the final assault."

RUSSIA AROUSED.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 10.—The Japanese victory at Port Arthur has aroused the Russians. Japan's action without a formal declaration of war is bitterly denounced as an outrage. War preparations are being pushed.

The latest returns of Russian warships in the far East total 97, including 8 battle ships, 16 cruisers, 7 gunboats and 56 torpedo boat destroyers and torpedo boats. Three more battle ships and nine torpedo boats are to go to the far East in the spring.

RED CROSS NURSES.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 10.—The Russian Red Cross society has sent 2,000 beds to the far East and Sisters of Mercy are leaving.

TO BE A SLASHING WAR.

New York, Feb. 10.—The local consul general of Japan declares that his government proposes to make the war as brief and decisive as possible. "We are going to make a slashing fight, continued relentlessly until we bring Russia to terms," says he. The consul said he had hundreds of applications for enlistment in Japan's service, but the laws of Japan will not permit foreigners in either the navy or army service.

SULTAN'S BACK HAS BEEN STIFFENED

War News From the East Caused Him to Prepare for War With Bulgaria.

Constantinople, Feb. 10.—Russia's defeat at Port Arthur has caused the liveliest surprise and excitement in Turkish official circles. It is expected to stiffen the sultan's back and hasten the long prepared for war with Bulgaria. The Turkish military authorities are hurrying the preparations. United States Ambassador Leishman dined with the sultan last night. He leaves Constantinople today on a leave of absence.

London, Feb. 10.—Japan's naval victory and Russia's humiliating defeat was reflected in all foreign security markets today.

London, Feb. 10.—In the house of commons today, replying to an interpellation by Gosson Bowles, Mr. Acker-Douglas, secretary of state for home affairs, said a council would be held tomorrow to approve a proclamation of British neutrality in the far Eastern imbroglio.

SURE INDICATIONS OF BAD BLOOD

OLD SORES, ULCERS, ABSCESSSES

The best evidence of a bad condition of the blood and unhealthy state of the system, is an old festering sore, running ulcer, or abscess. They show the bodily impurities are not passing out through the proper channels, but are left in the system to clog and poison the blood. So thoroughly does the poison permeate the system that every little scratch, cut or bruise inflames and festers. Everything about an old sore or ulcer suggests disease.

FROM CALF OF THE LEG TO ANKLE A SOLID SORE.

New Castle, Pa., July 29, 1903.
Three years ago a common boil appeared on the calf of my limb. Not yielding to simple home remedies, I consulted a physician, who prescribed a poultice, flax seed, supposedly. By some fearful mistake I was given corrosive sublimate, and after having it on for a few minutes I could endure the pain no longer, so took off the application and found that my limb from the calf to the ankle was in an awful condition. I immediately sent for another physician, who told me I had been poisoned. My limb from the calf to the ankle was one solid inflamed sore. I was advised to begin S. S. S., and improved rapidly under its use, but about this time I had an attack of typhoid fever, and this settled in the original sore. Two years have elapsed, and I have never had a return of the trouble.
MRS. K. A. DUFFY,

Where the constitution is fresh skin and the sore is gone for all time. chronic sores, ulcers, abscesses, carbuncles, boils or other severe skin eruptions, S. S. S. will build it up again and stimulate and strengthen all parts of the system. S. S. S. contains no strong minerals, but is guaranteed entirely vegetable. It is unequalled as a Blood Purifier and invigorating tonic. Do not depend upon local remedies alone. Get your blood right, and as it forces out the poison the sore must heal, because nothing is left in the system for it to feed upon. STORY OF A TIRED-OUT MINISTER

OWE YOU my heartfelt gratitude," said a minister to one of our representatives recently, "for insisting on my trying a bottle of Rexall Mucu-Tone. You know I am not at all addicted to the medicine habit, and I was rather skeptical of the merits of Mucu-Tone. Still, you urged me, and I could see no harm in trying it. Since then I have used three bottles, and have recommended it to I don't know how many people.

"I am convinced that you were right when you told me that I had some kind of catarrh—of the kidneys, I judge, from the terrible backache I experienced, yet I had supposed that catarrh was a disease of the nose and head only. I have read the Mucu-Tone booklet, however, and I can now understand how catarrh attacks any part of the mucous membrane.

"Rexall Mucu-Tone is wonderful. I am using it three times a day, and have not felt so well in years. It is giving me strength, and I believe I am adding some flesh."

How many churchgoers realize the strain under which their pastor labors?

How many appreciate the fatigue that follows his Sunday work? The nerve-racking, brain-wearing duties that endure from week's end to week's end, from the beginning of the year to the close, and from one year to another?

But this cannot go on forever. Sooner or later a minister so pressed feels his energies waning. After a while there is a break-down—a physical and mental collapse. - If he could only get out into the country for a month or two of absolute rest, but—why suggest such an impossible thing! We know that no minister can spare the time for this. Neither can any other business or professional man. The next best thing is to replenish the waning vitality by artificial means—to help Nature in her efforts to supply energy and nerve power.

Our new remedy, Rexall Mucu-Tone, does this.

Physical and mental exhaustion is due to a catarrh congestion of the mucous membranes. Rexall Mucu-Tone cures it by cleansing these membranes, driving out the poisons and allaying the inflammation. It also revitalizes the blood, steadies the fagged nerves and builds up the body.

We ask you who are weak, nervous and in need of new energy to give Mucu-Tone a trial. Then if you are not more than satisfied we will give you back your money.

Large bottle, 89 cents. Sold only at our store.

MR. NORPELL

Tells How a Private Bill of 85 Cents Happened to Be Paid by County Commissioners.

(Communicated.)

In the report of the committee appointed to examine the Commissioners' report, it is stated in regard to the use of the county phones, that "Carl Norpell also enjoyed the long distance service on the Prosecutor's phone at the expense of the county," and then proceeds to give the items, amounting to 85 cents.

From the wording of this report, it seems to be the design to convey the impression that in using the phone on the three occasions referred to in the report, it was my purpose and intention to have the county pay for them; when, in fact, no such thought ever entered my mind.

From October, 1939 to May, 1903, I occupied offices on the same floor as Black & Fitzgibbon, in the Fleck-Zartman building on West Main street. I did not have the Bell telephone in my office, and on several occasions, when I was in a hurry to send a long distance message, instead of going two or three blocks to the office of the Bell Telephone company, and waiting an hour for an answer, I used the phone in Black & Fitzgibbon's office, each time giving the reporter my name and supposing, and expecting the message would be charged to my personal account with the said company, and presented to me for payment. But in these particular instances, it seems that the company charged the messages to the phone of Black & Fitzgibbon and that the bill was presented to the County Commissioners, who allowed and paid it, although it showed on its face that it was my private messages.

At the time I sent these messages, it never occurred to me that I was using a county phone. The phone I used was not in any county office, but in the law office of Black & Fitzgibbon, and while I may have known the county was paying the rent, I did not know that the county was paying for these phones.

I had nothing whatever to do with presenting the bill of 85 cents to the Commissioners, and it was done without my knowledge and consent. About six weeks ago, and long before the committee had made its report, Mr. Fitzgibbon called my attention to the matter, and I promptly paid the amount. This was the first knowledge that I had that these messages had been presented to the county and paid by it.

While this is a small matter, I feel that in justice to myself, this explanation should be made. Whatever other sins I may be guilty of, I am not in the business of sponging off the county or anyone else. Thanks to a large circle of friends who have given me their confidence and patronage, I have, up to the present time, been able to meet my obligations without calling on the County Commissioners or the Infirmary Directors for assistance.

Very respectfully,

CARL NORPELL.

Art Criticism.

Amateur—This is my latest attempt at a landscape. May I ask what you think of the perspective?

Artist—The perspective is its strong point. The further away you stand the better it looks.—Chicago Tribune.

The great number of dyspeptics is increasing daily. This is due to hurried eating and lack of care in selecting proper food.

There is nothing more effective to the run-down digestive organs than pure pepsin, and while pepsin alone corrects the overworked digestive organs, a tonic, such as pure port wine, is also necessary to keep them in this condition.

Walther's Peptonized Port, to be found in all drug stores, combines in exact proportions the purest pepsin and richest port wine. It is highly recommended by thoughtful physicians.

LITTLE BOY KILLED

By Pan Handle Passenger Train at Union Street Crossing Wednesday—Ira Gundy's Son Aged 7 Years Victim of the Accident.

Another terrible accident occurred in the West End shortly before eleven o'clock Wednesday morning, by which a young life was crushed out without a moment's warning.

Asher Lee Gundy, the seven-year-old son of Ira and Mary E. Gundy, residing at 46 Burt avenue, was the victim, and his death was caused by being struck by eastbound Pan Handle passenger train No. 18 at the Union street crossing.

The boy had started to take his brother Denver's dinner to him at the Moser stove works, and upon reaching the Union street crossing found the gates down and a westbound freight train passing. He crawled under the gates, and it is reported that he was standing between the east and west-bound tracks waiting for the freight train to pass. While he was standing between the tracks the eastbound passenger train, No. 18, came down unnoticed by him. A number of persons who saw the boy's peril called out to him to lie down between the tracks, but he either failed to hear them or became confused, as he stepped immediately in front of the rapidly approaching train, which struck and instantly killed him.

The passenger train was stopped and the body was tenderly picked up, placed in the baggage car and brought to the Pan Handle depot, where it was placed in the baggage room.

Dr. Legge, the coroner, was called and viewed the body and an inquest will probably be held tomorrow.

The remains were then taken to Bowers & Bradley's undertaking rooms, where they were prepared for interment.

The deceased was a bright and interesting boy and his sudden death has caused a gloom of sadness to pervade the entire neighborhood. The parents have the sympathy of the entire community in their great bereavement.

The little fellow's back, right leg in several places, and left arm were broken, his head and face cut and his jaw broken, which injuries caused instant death.

IN THE OHIO LEGISLATURE.

Columbus, O., Feb. 10.—The bill for more liberal appropriations for the Ohio State university was debated in the senate Tuesday. Comparisons of figures showed that Ohio appropriated less for their state school than many smaller and less industrial states. Arguments were made that the bill should not pass unless greater attention was paid to agriculture, mechanical arts and technical work, leaving the more academic education to the smaller schools. The Hamilton and Cuyahoga delegations oppose the bill for this reason, as at present conducted the State university conflicts seriously with universities and colleges in their territories in academic features.

A bill has been introduced to make the delivery of intoxicating liquors in bulk a misdemeanor. This is aimed at the "jug" trade in dry towns. A fine of $20 to $200 and imprisonment of 30 to 90 days is the penalty.

The liquor people will also introduce several measures. One will be to tax such organizations as the Anti-Saloon league $350 per year in each county in which they operate. Another is to repeal the Beal law.

Representative Lawson of Cuyahoga has introduced a resolution to submit to vote a constitutional amendment embodying the initiative and referendum.

Buying delegates at party conventions, bribery at party primaries and "repeating" at primary elections are made punishable in bills introduced.

The house passed a pure food bill supplemented to the one now in force. It includes in its operation drinks, confectionery and condiments.

Two advertising bills were introduced in the house. One by Mr. Sprague, of Cincinnati, reduced the size of a legal square from eight nonpareil lines to eight agate lines, of which 14 lines make an inch. Mr. Smith, of Cincinnati, put in the second, which provides that there shall be no final decree in an assignee, receiver, or administrator case, until the publisher certifies he has been paid for all advertising approved by the court.

Other bills were introduced as follows:

By Mr. Wagner, of Tuscarawas—Providing that at all school elections the names of candidates for membership in the board of education however nominated shall be placed on one ticket and arranged in alphabetical order without any designation whatever, except "For member of the board of education."

By Mr. Bright, of Hocking and Vinton—Amending the fish and game laws. The commission is granted power to open and inspect packages. Open season for squirrel from September 15 to October 15; closed season for pheasants is extended to November, 1907; fee from non-resident hunters is reduced to 25 cents; Lake Erie fishing, the tonnage tax is abolished and a license fee of $1 is substituted. Net fishing in Sandusky and Manatee Bay is prohibited; closed season for lake fishing is November 1 to December 1.

By Mr. Thompson, of Lawrence—Abolishing life penalty for burglary of an inhabited house, making the penalty for burglary from one to 30 years' penitentiary sentence.

BREAKING THE HOODOO

(Copyright, 1894, by Charles B. Lewis.) When the Thirtieth was brigaded with us, everybody spoke in praise of its rank and file. No better material could have been found in America. A couple of weeks, however, showed the colonel to be an egotist and a drunkard, and few of the company or regimental officers seemed anxious to give him credit for anything outside.

One day the regiment came out to relieve the Fourth on outpost duty. At mid-afternoon a hundred Confederate cavalry, divided into squads of twenty-five, attacked four full companies of the Thirtieth at about the same moment. One discharge of their carbines, followed by a grand yell, did the business in each instance. The same 100 cavalry then fell upon the reserve of 400 men and routed them at a dash. One thousand men were beaten, routed and disgraced by 100.

The colonel called his officers together and said they must give the men double drill and that in the next fight they must shoot down any man who tried to make a bolt for it. And the captains got their respective companies out on the parade ground and looked savage and swelled out their chests and shouted:

"You are a laughing stock in this brigade. You have had two or three chances to win glory, but you have run away like beaten curs. In our next fight I will shoot the man who even turns pale."

And yet every private in every company remembered that when he ran away he followed his three officers and was not able to overtake them. A month later, at 9 o'clock one summer morning, our brigade swung into battle line on the left center. It stretched across a cotton field, with its right and left connecting in the woods with other brigades. The fight began far above us. That meant waiting, and it is the waiting that makes cowards of brave men.

Down the lines of the Fourth, Seventh and Eighth went the company officers to brace up the men who were not cowards, but yet losing their nerve in the waiting, but over in the Thirtieth it was different. The officers were at the regulation distance in rear of the lines, and the men had nobody to brace them up. To talk to each other only made matters worse.

We were quite prepared for what happened—knew that it would happen. Of a sudden the enemy opened fire on our front with artillery, and as the first shell exploded in the ranks of the Thirtieth the whole 1,000 men broke back like a flock of frightened sheep. A second shell completed the business, and there was a stampede which carried them a mile to the rear. The gap was closed up, and the battle went on, but the Thirtieth could not be rallied again that day. Three days later the major general said to the officers and men on parade:

"I know the history of the Thirtieth since its first skirmish. You are a disgrace to your state, to the army and to yourselves. I shall recommend that the regiment be wiped out of existence."

On the morning that the order of disbandment arrived from Washington the Thirtieth was in charge of a senior captain, and some of the companies were in charge of orderly sergeants. A Confederate column, which had cut loose and marched by night through the fields and woods, suddenly burst out of the woods upon the scattered camps along the river. The surprise was complete, and without a check the enemy came sweeping down the stream. The Thirtieth turned out, but there were no officers to give them orders. They were cowards and had always run away. A few had already started on this occasion, when there came the sound of hoof beats from the west, and a woman rode into camp. She was hardly above twenty years old, fair haired and handsome and probably the wife of some Union officer from the camps above. Every man thrilled as she pulled up her horse and cried out:

"Men, they are making a stand up there by the ford, and if you'll join them the enemy can be checked and driven back."

"We'll go—we'll go! Fall in—fall in!" shouted the men in chorus, after an instant's silence, and five minutes later every man had his musket and cartridge box and companies were being formed up the road crowded with white faced fugitives, and yet never a man of the Thirtieth fell out. There was no officer to lead them, but the woman rode ahead and turned now and then to smile and beckon them on. A round shot plowed up the dirt near by, but she gave no heed. A shell burst against a tree a few yards away and filled the air with splinters, but she did not turn her head. The bullets came thicker and thicker, but she held her way until a line of blue suddenly came into view and then waved her hand and said:

"Right down there, comrades, is where they need you, and after today no man will call the Thirtieth a regiment of cowards!"

"Hip—hip—hurrah!" and a swirling of caps and a dash forward. The fighting line was strengthened at a moment too soon. The enemy halted shell and grape—he poured volley after volley—the charged again and again, but the line stood firm and cheered as it stood. It was a fight of an hour before reinforcements came up. Behind the log breastworks were a few hundred living men, their eyes still shining and their faces black with powder stain, and on the right and left and behind them more dead and wounded than the whole brigade had yet lost. Not a coward had died—and a coward had lived on. Led by a woman, all had become heroes.

ROMANCE

IN WHICH NEWARK GIRL PLAYS PROMINENT PART.

Miss Jessie Parson, Who Left for Mississippi, Soon to Marry—The Courtship Was by Mail.

A romance from the Sunny South in which one of Newark's young ladies is about to participate has just come to light. It will be remembered that Miss Jessie Parson, of East Main street left on January 27 for Vicksburg, Miss. She is soon to become the bride of Mr. Robert Goodlett, who is employed by a railroad company in the South. It is said that the pretty little romance grew out of a letter correspondence neither seeing each other, except by photographs. It being impossible for Mr. Goodlett to come to Newark, and this being leap year, Miss Parson bravely decided to not have Cupid thwarted, so started South on the date above named. It is not exactly known just when the wedding will take place, but it is expected in the near future. The best wishes of her friends here go with her to her Southern home.

The whiplord stands out on his brow; His face is boiling red; His very ears seem like to burst From his devoted head; His eyes are big as walnuts, and His neck is swollen fat, And unremitting energy Almost upheaves his hat!

He plays, as I have said before, From early morning light; He starts in long before the sun And never stops till night. I'm hoping, if he perseveres As he does now—I say, I'm hoping, if he keeps it up, He'll blow it up some day.

AUNT ELIZABETH, MATCHMAKER

By T. BLAIR EATON

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McCall.

The orchestra leader waved his baton energetically, as if summoning his drooping charges to spurt in the last quarter; then, with a final roar, in which drums and cymbals strove to outdo each other, the waltz came to an end, while the perspiring musicians mopped their faces and cursed in guttural German these Wednesday night hops.

Mr. William Fosdeck stepped through the low window on to the veranda with a sigh of relief and a sense of duty done. He had danced with each one of the three giggling Maxson girls and now felt assured he richly merited a cigarette and a few moments' quiet on the broad, moonlit veranda, where the tinkle of the surf on the rocks below was a grateful contrast to the noise and whirl of the palm bowered, stifling room he had just left.

As he turned the corner to claim his favorite nook some one called, "Oh, good evening, Mr. Fosdeck!"

He turned and beheld Gertrude Martin and her aunt in the shadow of the ivy vine. It was Aunt Elizabeth who had hailed him.

"Ah, not dancing, I see," said Fosdeck, throwing away the newly lighted cigarette—with what inward thoughts may be imagined—and taking the vacant chair by Miss Martin.

"No," said the girl, "it's so delightful here."

"A trifle chilly, though, Gertrude, dear," her aunt said. "If you'll both excuse me for a moment I think I'll get a wrap."

"Shan't I get it for you, Mrs. Curtis?" said Fosdeck.

"Oh, thank you, no," Aunt Elizabeth returned. "I really don't know where mine is, and I anticipate quite a hunt before I finally run it to earth."

As Aunt Elizabeth disappeared around the corner the girl sighed resignedly. "Oh, dear," she said, "it's too absurd. She invariably stampeedes within three minutes after you appear, and her motive is so horribly obvious."

Fosdeck laughed. "Her methods are a trifle open," he observed.

"But I feel very different now we understand each other," the girl went on. "It was awfully embarrassing at first, especially that time she managed to miss the coach down from the village and left us to ride back together."

"Yes," Fosdeck laughed; "you were a perfect little fury sitting there opposite me. Really you made me feel it was I, not Aunt Elizabeth, who had engineered the whole affair."

"I wanted you to hate me," she said. "Last winter," he said slowly, "when your Aunt Elizabeth was preaching to me all the time, I decided if I ever met you to dislike you very much."

"I'm glad, after all, it hasn't made us enemies," she said.

"So am I," he asserted, with a fervor that made her glance up at him quickly. "Poor Aunt Elizabeth!" he went on. "I fancy she doesn't dream her plans have merely succeeded in setting us conspiring to defeat her schemes. I'm almost sorry for her."

"She's so terribly in earnest about it," said the girl. "Every time she makes those idiotic excuses and leaves us I think I'll speak my mind plainly to her. Then I go upstairs simply boiling, and she meets me with such a bless-you-my-child-didn't-I-tell-it-beautiful sort of air that I haven't the heart to say a word. Now," she said, rising, "I shall leave you, for you want to be alone and finish your smoke."

"Really, Miss Martin"—he began.

"Now, don't spoil it all by saying things which are generally expected at such a time," she said. "I like you best when you're perfectly frank."

"I wish you wouldn't go," he persisted.

"I want a promise from you before I leave," she said. "Don't go down in your catboat tomorrow to the picnic on Poplar island with the fleet, will you?"

"Why?" he asked.

"It's high time we were taking the field against Aunt Elizabeth. She

DRESS REVEALS THE MIND.

Better Index to Character Than the Face, Says Chicago Woman.

"If you want to read a girl's character, do not look to see it expressed in her face, but in the taste displayed in her room and dress. A girl's room and dress, not her face, reveal her character."

This is what Mrs. John B. Sherwood, for years chairman of the art committee of the Illinois State Federation of Women's Clubs, told the members of the Matheon club in Chicago the other day. Mrs. Sherwood believes that as a girl's face is not of her own making it is not a safe index to character, says the Chicago Tribune.

"But look into a girl's room or observe her dress, and all her characteristics are known to you at a glance. There is no concealing them."

Mrs. Sherwood then proceeded to advise her hearers regarding the proper decorations of the home.

"The most artistic room is not the room that costs a great deal, but the room in which there are simplicity and harmony, no matter how cheaply obtained. Simplicity and harmony are the first principles of beauty, and in many cases there is less art in the rooms where a great deal of money has been spent than in the more economically furnished."

Mrs. Sherwood urged that many homes would be more artistic than they are if it were not for the gifts received, which perforce must be accepted and for awhile displayed in the parlor. The proper way to proceed when such unwelcome gifts are received was outlined by the speaker as follows:

"Gradually move them from the parlor to the back room, from the back room to the bedroom, from the bedroom to the spare room and from the spare room to the attic. By the time they reach the attic the donor will have forgotten all about it."

Mrs. Sherwood urged that colors are symbolic and outlined a few rules to be followed. "Red," she said, "is symbolic of welcome, hospitality and love and should be used on the walls of the reception hall. Blue is symbolic of truth and purity, and it is an excellent color for a girl's room. In fact, most girls choose it of their own accord. Every girl should be allowed to select the color and furnish her own room."

Mrs. Sherwood urged that the reception room should properly be done in colonial style, with columns, and should be by all means of formal decoration.

TROLLEYS IN THE WOODS.

Advantages of Electric Railroads to the Adirondacks.

The announcement of Paul Smith, the veteran guide and hotel keeper of the Adirondacks, that several electric railroads will soon be running through the wilderness is like Wagner's music, "not so bad as it sounds," says the New York World.

Of course it rather interferes with the pristine wildness of the woods to be charged upon by a gong clanging trolley car when one is expecting a bear at the very least, but the trolley car has its "points."

In the terrible drought of last spring most of the fires that devastated the wilderness as it had never been before were set by sparks from railroad engines. Many suits for damages are now pending against the railroad companies by owners of burned forest lands. If their point can be sustained by law the railroad companies themselves may be forced in self protection to use electric power, which, wired from the abundant waterfalls of the woods, would not endanger the forest in time of drought.

Another great advantage of the trolley for woods use is that it can surmount any reasonable grade, whereas the steam railroad has to stick to the level or make a level for itself at great cost. On the whole, the woods have worse enemies than the trolley car schemers.

SELF TORTURE BY INDIANS.

Mutilation Endured by Drunken Savages to Show Their Courage.

Edward Field, who recently arrived at Yorktown, Man., reported the drunken orgies of Indians who held a potlatch at Fishing River. Inspired by whisky supplied by a trader, the Indians held a sun dance. This did not content some who wanted a potlatch, in which knives are freely used to test the courage of the Indian braves.

One got his companions to cut the tendons of his back to insert sticks after the custom of the ancient dances, but could not bear the pain when one tendon had been cut. Another put pine needles in his arms and then applied a light to them, severely burning himself, but his bravery was established when he bore the pain without a murmur.

Others slashed themselves with knives, inflicting bad flesh wounds, and then retired from the dance to be attended by medicine men. The dance continued for three nights, more than a hundred Indians taking part in the performance on the snow, with the temperature 30 degrees below zero.

Cannot Sell the Hope Diamond.

Most things that are for sale are helped by advertising, but in the case of the Hope diamond the reverse is the case. In spite of reports to the contrary, the famous diamond has not been returned to England, but is still in the United States. Its present owner declares it has been rendered absolutely unsalable by the notoriety that has been given to it. Since it has been reported that the dealer who owns it paid $200,000 or more for it, the investment was not a profitable one, so far as this market is concerned. In color and size the Hope diamond has no equal in the world. It is of a blue sapphire color and weighs forty-four carats.
